Home Modifications

NEW Perspective:

Did you know that seniors are at higher risk of brain injury, and that most of these injuries result from falls? Seniors and family caregivers should take steps to reduce the risk of falls. Using a home safety checklist, an in-home caregiver can take senior clients to fall reduction classes; help "fall-proof" the home by removing clutter; and provide physical assistance when clients need help walking, getting dressed, or moving between bed and chair.

BEYOND Limits:

Our theme for 2011 is Beyond Limits! We recognize that 89% of people want to live independently in their forever homes. Our mission here at Accessible Systems is to ENABLE people of any age or disability to see beyond their physical, financial or mental limits through home modifications and medical technologies.

Have you heard of 'nana technology'? Check out this wave of grandma OR grandpa technologies being developed to help seniors continue to live safely in their homes.

March Client with GREATITUDE:

Willie McWashington gets a LIFT by Accessible Systems

Willie was referred to Accessible Systems by LCC of Aurora. Willie is a Texas native and moved to Colorado when he was 18 to serve in the Air force. He met and married Valerie from England and they have been married for 59 years. His medical history includes a stroke in 2000, a left hip break in 2004 followed by a right hip break in 2006. Recently he got a urinary tract infection and was hospitalized which left him immobile so his strength has declined and was sent to rehab to build up his strength. When I visited Willie and Valerie at the LCC of Aurora to introduce Accessible Systems and discuss options to adapt their current home to his needs he said, "I have difficulty descending my 11 stairs even with rails on each side because of the fear I have about my strength." After learning about the kind of work and solutions Accessible Systems offers they wanted to move forward with the next step, a home evaluation with Nathan. The decision for a Bruno LT was made and the installation promptly scheduled with Bruce. Willie is now home and the Bruno stair-lift has helped him overcome his fear of the stairs.

Another inspiring story influenced by a referral source, experienced by a customer and captured by Accessible Systems.

We are grateful for our referrals & clients and will be sharing stories of GREATITUDE every month in 2011!
