STORIES WITH GREATITUDE:

"It only takes me a few minutes to get into my SureHands ceiling lift!" David LeSueur

David and Mary LeSueur openly shared at the Gadgets, Gizmos and Strategies event at the Rocky Mountain MS Center how they adapted their home to meet David's needs.

Planning for progression is a top priority which they learned as they embarked upon this journey. "We learned that making the change you don't think you need yet is a great way to plan for progression," expressed Mary.

MONTHLY PERSPECTIVE:

Who is Your HOME Team?

Occupational therapists (OT) and home modification experts are the team many rely on when experiencing a functional decline and need to plan for future independence in the home.

An OT will complete a customized evaluation by asking a client to show them how they do things and the way they move within the house. The OT develops a plan in collaboration with the individual to make adaptations to their home.

The most important outcome from a home modification assessment is the affect the modifications have on the homeowner's participation in desired activieies, rather than a list of the charachteristics of the home itself.
